Introduction

Welcome to the winter edition of The Woking Magazine – your window on Woking Borough

The cold weather has a tendency to sneak up on us every year, so it's comforting to know that this magazine is once again full to the brim with great articles and upcoming events to help you fend off those winter blues.

By now, most residents will have seen that work is underway on the Victoria Square development. We are inviting you all to find out the exciting plans and get involved in the new #WeAreWoking campaign.

The new Woking & Sam Beare Hospice opened its doors earlier this year. You can read about some of the services available and why not pop in, as our latest Out and About route takes you almost straight to the door of the new public café, where you can lend your support whilst having a coffee in the impressive surrounds.

We catch up with our local MP Jonathan Lord, to find out what he's been up to since his re-election in May. We pay our respects to the late Ken Wood, inventor of iconic kitchenware and former resident of Woking. You will also find inspiring interviews from local author and domestic abuse survivor, Sunny Angel, and founder of Radio Woking, Justin Coll.

Don't forget to check out Celebrate Woking's forthcoming events, there are plenty to choose from, both now and in preparation for next year.

And that just leaves me space to wish you season's greetings and best wishes for the coming months and New Year.

Nominations are now open for the Young People's Civic Awards Scheme 2018

Woking Borough Council is keen to hear about local young people who have achieved exceptional success in areas that are not normally recognised by formal accreditation, and deserve recognition for their efforts.

The scheme particularly seeks nominees in three categories.

- Outstanding Contribution to the Community includes work in areas such as helping older or disabled people, working with children, fundraising for good causes or getting involved with voluntary organisations.
- Triumph Over Adversity includes endurance and bravery, such as overcoming a disability or helping a parent or family member with a disability.
- Outstanding Achievement covers excellence in many fields: sport, music, drama, visual arts and particularly less academic subjects that are not normally recognised or rewarded.

The scheme is open to all children and young people, up to the age of 18, who live or attend school or college in the Borough. Nominations are judged by a panel which typically includes representatives from the Local Education Authority, Surrey Police, voluntary sector, Sport Woking, Woking Youth Council and Woking Borough Council.

All young people nominated will receive a certificate acknowledging their achievements. The winners will be invited to attend the Mayor's Civic Reception on 27 April 2018.

The deadline for nominations is 26 January 2018.

Laugh your way to better mental health

You've heard what they say – laughter is the best medicine. Well, have you ever considered testing this theory for yourself by trying laughter yoga?

Laughter yoga is the latest way to help people feel better about themselves - all without twisting yourself into all kinds of contortions like traditional yoga. It's a unique exercise routine, which combines unconditional laughter with yogic breathing. The body doesn't know the difference between a real laugh and a fake one. Either way, the body is producing a joyous cocktail of serotonin, oxytocin, dopamine and endorphins so you get that feel good effect and you end up laughing for real.

Laughter is well known as a stress buster, strengthens the immune system, promotes inner tranquillity and relaxation, can lower blood pressure and alleviate depression and anxiety.

Local residents, Jo-Dee Walmsley, and friend, Rowena Wood, teamed-up after meeting in Bangalore India where they were training with the founder of Laughter Yoga, Dr Madan Kataria.

Now fully trained in laughter yoga, the pair will be hosting different happiness and laughter programs in Woking. For more information, please visit www.simplylaughter.com

Volunteer to support people in recovery from mental health issues

A new project has been set up in north Surrey and is looking for volunteer buddies.

The Amigo Project matches volunteers with people who require support to move forward on their journey of recovery from mental health issues. Volunteers will help people make connections with local community activities whilst helping them to boost their confidence and motivation.

Amigo, funded by Catalyst's Welcome Project, is being delivered by Voluntary Support North Surrey who promote voluntary and community work by supporting local charities. Solette Sheppardson, Chief Officer, said: "Amigo is an exciting new project for VSNS. Volunteers are essential to the success of the project and they will receive full training and support from us."

Volunteering opportunities are available in Woking both during the day and in the evening. If you are aged 18 or over and have good people skills then you can make a real difference in your local community whilst gaining valuable skills and experience.

Team Woking triumph again at Specsavers Surrey Youth Games!

Young athletes from across the Borough proved themselves to be sporting superstars this summer, as Team Woking were crowned Specsavers Surrey Youth Games champions for a second year.

Over 200 children and young people, aged between seven and 16, represented Woking at the Championships in 15 different sports including boccia, cricket, netball, swimming and table tennis.

During the Olympic-style event, hosted at Surrey Sports Park in Guildford, Team Woking scooped seven gold, six silver and two bronze medals, and achieved fantastic results in other sports.

All of these excellent results meant Woking won the overall Borough Trophy, beating all Surrey boroughs and districts to the coveted title.

The final Woking medals table:

- Gold – girl's cricket, girl's hockey, junior boccia, non-contact boxing, senior girl's judo, senior squash and swimming.
- Silver – contact boxing, junior badminton, junior netball, girl's junior rugby, senior boccia and girl's senior rugby.
- Bronze – girl's cricket and junior boccia.

Cllr Mark Pengelly, Woking Borough Council's Portfolio Holder for Leisure and Cultural

Services, said: "This is an absolutely brilliant achievement! On behalf of everyone at the Council, I would like to congratulate Team Woking on their superb performances."

Team Woking would like to thank their sponsors Freedom Leisure, Headline Design and Print and Orange Promotions for their support in preparing the young superstars for the Games.

If you've been inspired to sign-up for next year's Games, please email sports@woking.gov.uk to register your interest.

Top tips to stay well this winter

With winter fast approaching, severe weather or ill health can strike at any time. So this winter, we are reminding residents of the importance of taking a few simple steps to prepare for whatever comes their way.

There are three simple steps to help you prepare for winter:

Step 1 - Keep warm

- Heat your home to at least 18°C.
- Draw your curtains and shut doors.
- Insulate your home with the help of financial assistance – call your local Citizens' Advice or Action Surrey on 0800 783 2503.

Step 2 - Keep well

- Eat well and drink plenty of fluids.
- Have your flu jab.
- Keep active.
- Get help early; ask your pharmacist or for a non-emergency call 111.

Could you spare your Winter Fuel Allowance?

citizens advice

Citizens' Advice Woking, in partnership with Woking Lions Club, has launched its annual Wenceslas Project appeal to assist those in the community who face fuel poverty.

Many local residents struggle to keep warm during the winter months, yet don't qualify for any statutory payments. To assist, Citizens' Advice Woking and Woking Lions Club are encouraging local residents who are in receipt of a Winter Fuel Allowance, and can afford to, donate part or all their allowance to the project to help those within the community who are less fortunate.

Last year, the project raised over £4,200 enabling Citizens' Advice Woking to help many local residents. This winter, Woking Lions Club is aiming to help even more residents.

For more information, or to donate your Winter Fuel Allowance, please visit Citizens' Advice Woking, 26 Commercial Way, Woking, email margaret.gower@wokingcab.org or call 01483 541610. Cheques should be made payable to 'Woking Lions Club/Citizens Advice Woking'.

Step 3 - Be prepared and safe

- Keep your medicine cabinet stocked and get repeat prescriptions in good time.
- Put together an emergency kit bag.
- Sign up for flood warnings at www.gov.uk/sign-up-for-flood-warnings and make a flood plan.
- Look out for your neighbours.
- Arrange a free Home Fire Safety visit by calling 0800 085 0767.

For more information about keeping well this winter, please visit www.healthysurrey.org.uk

Your Council: a Disability Confident Employer

Woking Borough Council is now a Disability Confident Employer, following assessment.

This means that any job applicant declaring their disability under the Equality Act 2010 (for example they have a physical or mental impairment that has a substantial and long term adverse effect on their ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities), whilst meeting the essential criteria set out in the person specification, will be granted an interview.

As a Disability Confident Employer, the Council also provides an inclusive and accessible recruitment process to ensure applicants can demonstrate their suitability for a role, whilst also making reasonable adjustments to ensure successful applicants can carry out their job effectively once appointed.

The Council provides work experience and apprenticeships, working with local disability groups, JobCentre Plus and Surrey Choices to ensure disabled people are aware of opportunities within the local authority.

New voter identification pilot scheme to be introduced

Voters in Woking, along with three other local authorities in England will need to show ID before they can vote next May.

Woking Borough Council has signed up to a pilot being run by the Cabinet Office.

The move comes after reports of alleged electoral fraud through voter impersonation more than doubled between 2014 and 2016, according to national figures from the Electoral Commission.

Joining Woking is Gosport, Bromley and Watford, who have all volunteered to take part in a trial in the May 2018 local elections, which will require voters to produce ID before being issued with a ballot paper. The form of identification to be used will be set by the councils.

Next year's trial is likely to be the first in a series of pilots to allow the Electoral Commission and Cabinet Office to evaluate the impact of asking for ID before a decision is taken on whether or not to roll it out nationally.

Many countries around the world have already made it a requirement to prove identity at a polling station, including Northern Ireland.

Details about the ID requirements for the Borough's pilot scheme will be sent out to all electors in early 2018.

Commemorating the Great War during 2018

In partnership with Surrey Heritage, Celebrate Woking will commemorate the centenary of Armistice being signed on 11 November 1918.

The thought provoking reflection on the 'War to End All Wars' will take place throughout the Borough and provide residents with a diverse selection of programmed events.

The programme stems from the "Surrey in the Great War" project, run by Surrey Heritage over the four centenary years (2014-18) with funding from the Heritage Lottery Fund. The project's goal was to drive and coordinate new community-based research into the histories of individuals, communities, and organisations during the war years. Interested residents can browse more information by visiting www.surreyinthewar.org.uk

Ethel Smyth in 1908 (Lewis Orchard Collection, Surrey History Centre)

As well as special commemoration ceremonies, the project will fund schools outreach events, to educate young people about the significance and events of the Great War. The Borough played host to numerous military bases, hospitals for overseas troops, and factories for aeroplane makers such as Sopwith, Bleriot, and Martinsyde.

There will also be a production of Michael Morpurgo's play, War Horse, and street lamp posts and signage will be adorned with giant remembrance poppies.

During this period, we will also be celebrating the life and times of Dame Ethel Smyth (1858 – 1944), the celebrated composer, diarist, author and suffragette, who lived in Woking for the last years of her life. Dame Ethel's military service, as an ambulance driver in Italy in 1915, has particular resonance in light of the War commemoration.

Living in Hook Heath, Dame Smyth became a prolific writer who challenged sexist discrimination in the arts, while continuing to compose. She also became the first female member of Woking Golf Club, one of many outdoor sports she enjoyed. She passed away in 1944, her affection for Woking is evident in the attributed quote to her, that "if ever I were to be ennobled, the title I would choose would be Ethel, Duchess of Woking".

Woking is proud to have been home to such a pioneering individual in the history of rights for women, and will be hosting school outreach events to educate children about her, including taster music lessons.

Make sure not to miss out. Follow Celebrate Woking on Twitter @celebratewoking.

Woking's new waste and recycling collection service

The new bin collection service in Woking got off to a smooth start across the Borough during September. The change is part of a new initiative which has seen Woking's waste and recycling services combined with three other Surrey councils to form Joint Waste Solutions. This new organisation is managing a joint collection contract with Amey across all four areas, saving around £2.5m a year whilst maintaining high quality services.

So far you'll have just seen some small changes with collections starting slightly earlier than before at 6am, and small electrical items and textiles both being collected every week.

Later this month your food waste will start to be collected by a different vehicle. This means that your food waste caddies will be emptied at a different time to your general rubbish or recycling, so it's important to make sure that your caddy is empty before you bring it in.

Cllr Beryl Hunwicks, Portfolio Holder for Waste and Recycling Services explains: "Food waste vehicles don't need to be emptied as often as rubbish and recycling vehicles so doing it separately will be more efficient. The crews will be able to make more collections without having to take the refuse or recycling to be unloaded."

The new food waste vehicles will feature eye-catching designs covering the entire vehicle and reminding people that they can recycle their food waste every week. You'll also see these 'full wrap' designs on new garden waste and recycling vehicles as they come into service.

Additional services such as garden and bulky waste collections are still available with the new collection contract. You can subscribe to have your garden waste collected fortnightly and even share a subscription with a neighbour or friend. Large items, such as washing machines or furniture, can also be collected from your home.

You can find out more about both of these and other services available on the new Joint Waste Solutions website, www.jointwastesolutions.org, which should be your first port of call for any queries, updates and changes. Alternatively you can call Amey on 03332 340978 and information and updates can be found on Twitter @JointWasteSols.

Quick facts

- Collections start at 6am.
- Bins may be emptied at a different time of day.
- Food waste will soon be collected separately.
- Textiles and small electricals are now collected every week, but need to be in separate bags.

#WEAREWOKING

£460 MILLION

WOKING TOWN CENTRE'S EXCITING TRANSFORMATION IS HAPPENING NOW.

Backed by an investment of £460 million and a commitment to reset the clock and kick-start a new era of ambition, growth and prosperity for every resident, a new destination is taking shape. A place to work, visit and live.

With demolition complete, the first phase of construction is now well underway.

From 2020, Woking Town Centre will be transformed into a new and improved vibrant town centre fit for the 21st Century, which meets the needs of everyone in Woking, including future residents, visitors and businesses.

CHANGING THE FACE OF SHOPPING.

These are exciting times, with planning for a new, iconic Victoria Square retail complex anchored by a brand new M&S, a flagship Boots store and public plazas surrounded by new places to shop, eat and drink.

A NEW PLACE TO LIVE.

Meeting local demand for town centre living and changing lifestyles, 390 new residential apartments will inspire a new generation in a thriving location.

125,000 SQ FT
NEW RETAIL SPACE

A PLACE TO STAY, RELAX & ENJOY.

Hilton Woking, a stunning new hotel with leisure facilities onsite, rooms, suites and restaurants, in addition to a Sky Bar with panoramic views, will add a new and exciting dimension.

A BRIGHT FUTURE FOR EVERYONE.

Woking has just begun its transition to a new and modern age filled with opportunity and potential. Further investment will follow, creating a multi-purpose town centre location that meets the aspirations and needs of every resident in the 21st Century.

DELIVERING NEW JOBS & OPPORTUNITIES.

Promising a more secure economic future for Woking, a fully-integrated construction roll-out plan aims to minimise disruption and inconvenience.

For updates on progress, travel and transport advice and for information on opportunities available, including retail and residential lettings, visit the Facebook page @wearewoking and search #WEAREWOKING.

A new website www.wearewoking.com is coming soon, showcasing everything Woking has to offer.

Woking leads the way in specialist palliative care

With the opening of a brand new, purpose built, state-of-the-art hospice in Goldsworth Park, Woking & Sam Beare Hospices has put Woking on the map for leading the way in specialist palliative care for individuals who have life-limiting and terminal illnesses.

The community charity opened its doors to its first patients in May. The attention to detail in the 20-bed facility is incredible. In-patients benefit from rooms that are beautifully decorated and have en-suite bathrooms and balconies designed to accommodate their bed. In addition, each room has a Smart TV that has Skype facilities so patients can speak with loved ones unable to visit them.

Patient visitors benefit from having reflection rooms and two family pods that are equipped with kitchenettes and entertainment for children. The hospice has also invested in sofa beds to enable overnight stay.

The day unit, the Bradbury Wellbeing Centre, boasts a large versatile space with a fully equipped kitchen, together with a spa, physiotherapy gym, assessment rooms and consultation and counselling offices.

While the new hospice is fabulous, Woking & Sam Beare Hospices is far more than just a building and the specialist staff continues to care for over 1,400 patients each year across Spelthorne, Runnymede, West Elmbridge, Surrey Heath, Woking and North Guildford. In fact over 75% of the charity's care and support is delivered in patient homes. For this reason the Sam Beare Community Team are still based in Weybridge.

The hospice's clinical team are very excited to now have an education suite. This means that the hospice can offer an enhanced training and development programme for its staff, which will ultimately benefit the community the hospice serves.

In keeping with the excellence of the interiors, the hospice gardens have been designed by landscape designer Charlotte Harris, who is a RHS Chelsea Flower Show Gold Medal Winner. Together with the opening of a public café, which serves freshly baked cakes, drinks and meals, the hospice is a vibrant, warm and welcoming place. Its doors are always open to the whole community and not just for those under its care.

However, without the support of the community none of this would be possible. All of the hospice's services, including bereavement support for the family and specialist counselling for children and teenagers, are free. Therefore, every single penny counts, and the charity is extremely grateful for all donations, but your support is still needed.

Give your time and make a big difference

Volunteering with Woking & Sam Beare Hospices means helping raise vital funds to support patients and their families when they need it the most. It is hugely rewarding and also lots of fun. Whether you are looking to use your professional talents, pick up new skills, or if you are looking to enjoy the company of others in a friendly environment, we have lots of opportunities for you from helping in our charity shops and at events, to supporting our counselling and administration teams.

Please visit www.wsbhospices.co.uk/volunteer to find out more.

A Sunny outlook after domestic abuse

Local resident, Sunny Angel, is a survivor of horrific domestic abuse. She has published a book about her life and is dedicated to helping others in her situation. To mark Domestic Abuse Week, Sunny reveals her story to The Woking Magazine.

Growing up, Sunny accepted domestic violence as 'the norm.' She suffered physical and psychological abuse from the age of three, and attributes a consequent succession of destructive relationships to this violent past.

"People thought I must enjoy being beaten up but that's totally untrue. I was abused as a child and unknowingly attracted more predators because I was in what's called a 'victim state'" explains Sunny.

She contacted yourSanctuary in 2010 after her husband at the time became violent towards her daughter. "I refused to put my daughter through what I had endured. I knew I needed help. yourSanctuary provided fantastic support with practical matters such as securing my home.

"Leaving was a process. It's not just about money or having somewhere else to go, the real change came from within. I realised he was never going to change and that I shouldn't change myself to please my abuser. I was empowered.

"I stopped living in the past and transformed my negative energy into positivity, becoming a Reiki Grand Master and meditating to help me move forward. I still live in Woking and see my ex-husband around but I am no longer scared of him. People are surprised that I haven't moved, but why should I? This is my home and I haven't done anything wrong."

Sunny has found immense inner strength and is devoted to her daughter, explaining: "Love must start at home. If children feel special at home then they won't seek attention from strangers. Grooming can start young and vulnerable children are targets.

"My advice to parents is to be compassionate and give your children space to talk openly. Don't stay in an abusive relationship because of your children, what message is this sending them? Abuse is not love.

"If I had my childhood self here now, I would tell her to be brave and never let the light inside her flicker. I wouldn't change my path, although it was tough, because I can help so many people through my experiences.

"The situation has improved nowadays, with new laws passed and more help available such as yourSanctuary. But domestic abuse can affect anyone and I think more survivors need to break the silence and share their story to help other victims reach out."

Your local MP, Jonathan Lord

First elected in May 2010, Jonathan Lord has been Woking's Member of Parliament for seven years. Jonathan lives in Woking with his family and, following the recent election, Woking Magazine caught up with him to see what the next five years might bring.

Many congratulations on your re-election in June. How do you see your role as Member of Parliament for Woking over the coming Parliament?

I definitely see myself as Woking's representative in Parliament rather than Parliament's representative in Woking. Whilst Government and Parliament will be grappling with all sorts of international and domestic issues, I will also be sharply focused on how such matters might affect Woking's residents and businesses.

What do you think are the main opportunities and challenges for our Borough?

We have seen a great deal of positive change in Woking since I was first elected, including a transformed town centre and improved facilities in many of our villages. There are more opportunities ahead with the Victoria Square development. The challenges come largely as a result of our success, with many more people wanting to live in our area. We have to ensure that we support our thriving local economy with suitable modern infrastructure.

Woking Borough Council has an exciting vision for the future of the Borough. Do you share this?

Woking Borough Council wants to further establish Woking as a top destination for business and a great place to live and work. I look forward to helping promote Woking and bring further opportunities for everyone living here.

An important part of this is the increasing number of special events now taking place in the town every year through Celebrate Woking, such as Party in the Park and the Food and Drink Festival. Of course, as MP, I also get the opportunity to join in with all of our impressive village celebrations too.

What are you most proud of during the past few years and what are you looking to achieve in the future?

It was great to get two important Private Members' Bills onto the statute book, one improving safety in UK sports grounds and the other underpinning a vital element of our nation's Military Covenant.

On a local level, it was an honour to be invited to open the Bedser Hub at Woking Community Hospital and to have had some input into the wonderful scheme that supports our older residents.

Many of the good things that happen in Woking Borough are thanks to our flourishing voluntary sector. Many Scouts, Guides and Brownies now have new premises and the terrific, new state-of-the-art hospice building in Goldsworth Park is a tribute to people's generosity. I will continue to do everything I can to support this vital sector, and our terrific volunteers.

If you have an issue that you would like to raise with Jonathan, you can write to him at the House of Commons, London, SW1A 0AA. Alternatively, call 0207 219 6913 or email jonathan.lord.mp@parliament.uk

A stirring success: Ken Wood and the food mixer

On Thursday 7 September 2017, a commemorative blue plaque marking the location of the original workshop of legendary culinary industrialist, Kenneth Wood, was unveiled by the Mayor of Woking, Cllr Graham Cundy.

It's a little known fact that the internationally recognised Kenwood brand had its humble beginnings in Woking. Yet from a small workshop in Goldsworth Road 70 years ago, Ken Wood and his business partner, Roger Laurence, would develop a prototype food mixer, the iconic Kenwood Chef, which would revolutionise the culinary world.

It was 1947 when Ken and Roger started their first workshop together at 79 Goldsworth Road under the name Woodlau (the departure of Roger a few years later would see the firm renamed to Kenwood). It was purely by luck, as Ken explains in his unpublished memoirs: "Roger changed trains at Woking and during his wait went to an estate agent opposite the station who introduced us to Harry Waters and he had a small shopfront next door to a fishmonger."

Whilst at the workshop they developed the A100 'turnover toaster' – the first production model toaster sold in the UK – as well as the prototype A200 food mixer. "With our production of the A200 food mixer, turnover toaster and egg poacher, we were bursting at the seams!" announced Ken.

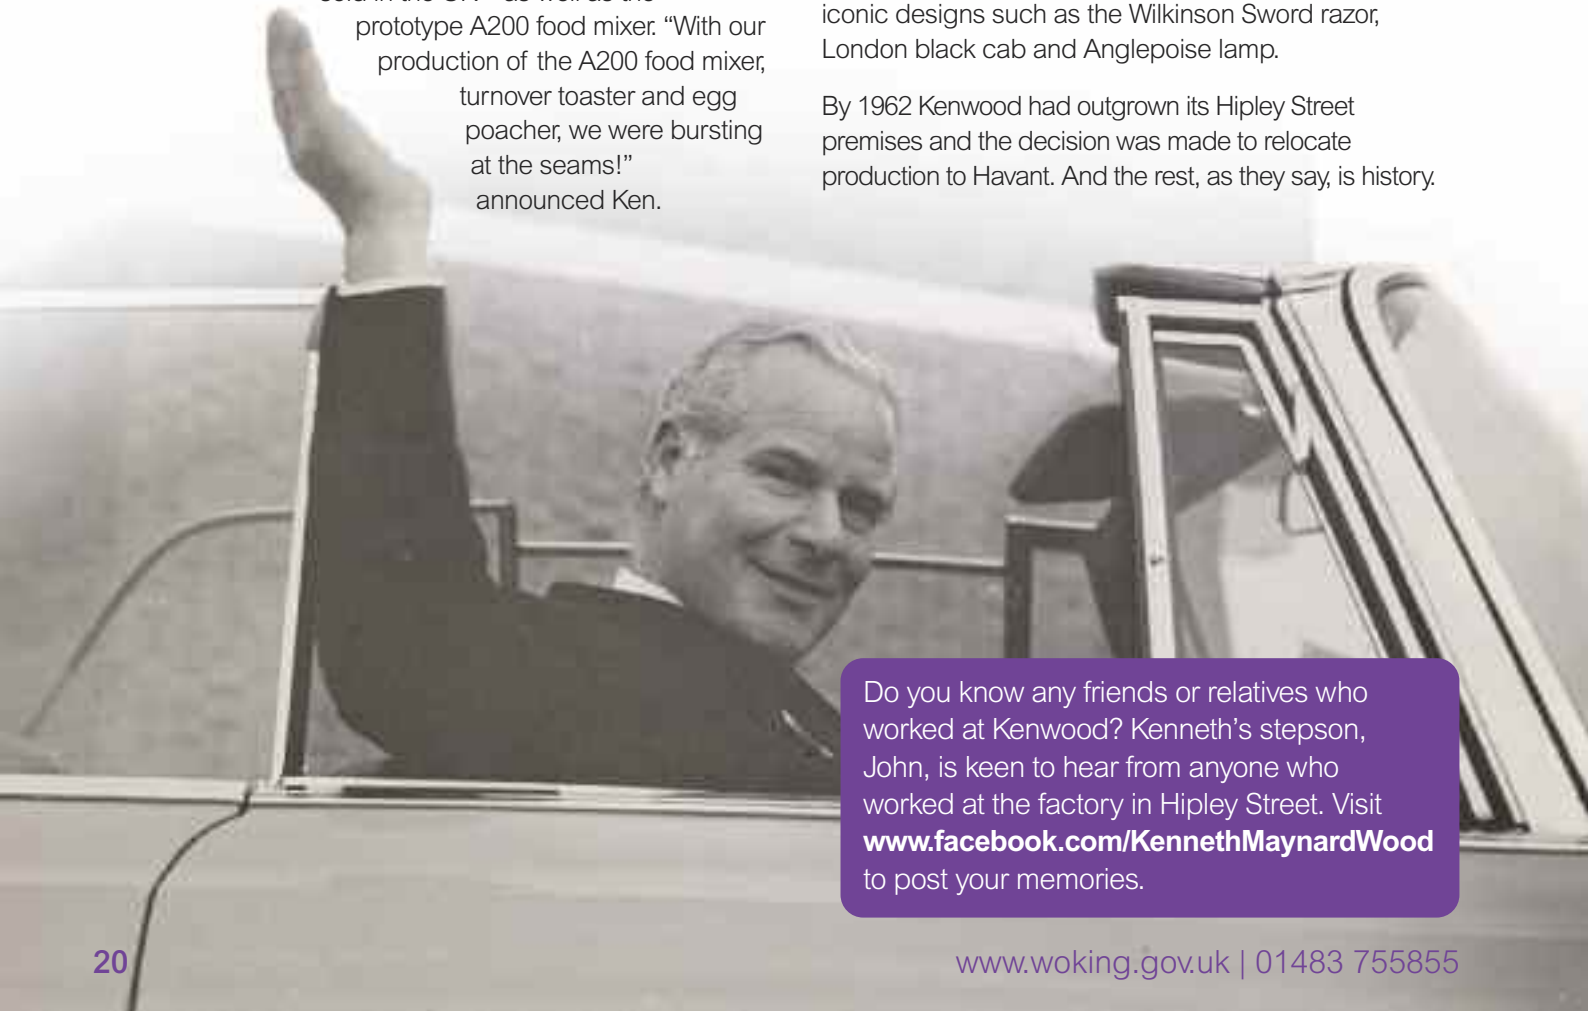

So in 1948 the company expanded to premises on Hipley Street in Old Woking (where Harvey Water Softeners now stands).

Ken recalled: "We started moving on the Friday evening and a team of us worked right through the weekend getting a few hours sleep...and had the production line of the A200 food mixer ready for production by 8 o'clock Monday morning."

Over the next few years the food mixer continually developed and production of the food mixer trebled eventually selling over 27,000 units. Kenwood became Woking's largest employer with 700 staff.

The classic food mixer would be the firm's most successful product, later being renamed the Kenwood Chef, and re-released in its most iconic form in 1959 after a redesign by famous industrial designer Sir Kenneth Grange. Sir Kenneth was responsible for other iconic designs such as the Wilkinson Sword razor, London black cab and Anglepoise lamp.

By 1962 Kenwood had outgrown its Hipley Street premises and the decision was made to relocate production to Havant. And the rest, as they say, is history.

Do you know any friends or relatives who worked at Kenwood? Kenneth's stepson, John, is keen to hear from anyone who worked at the factory in Hipley Street. Visit www.facebook.com/KennethMaynardWood to post your memories.

A voice for the whole community

Radio Woking is a volunteer-led radio station, devoted to being a community platform for Woking residents. The Woking Magazine talks to Adam Roberts and Justin Coll to find out what makes Radio Woking so unique and why Woking residents should tune in.

It was back in 2013 when Justin supervised the creation of Winston Churchill School's very own student-led radio station 'YayRadio'.

"After we received trust money to install a brand new studio I noticed a great opportunity. With the new studio space sitting empty after school hours, why not open it up to volunteers and create a radio station for the wider public? And Radio Woking was born!" explains Justin.

"Since then the station has gone from strength to strength. Many of our presenters joined us as volunteers who received on-the-job training. They are complemented with high calibre professionals, like Dave Johns from County Sound, and Roy Allaway from Eagle Radio. We are primarily an internet-based station, but just over a year ago, we trialled a small scale DAB license to broadcast across Woking and its villages. It was so successful it's been extended! This means that many more people across the Borough can tune in to Radio Woking."

Justin's vision for the station is clear: "We are a non-profit enterprise, so all of the money we receive goes straight back into maintaining the station and paying for licences, with any surplus given to the school. We do not aspire to become a large commercial operation, we only have two adverts an hour.

"Our aim remains partly to educate, as we continue to use our studios to train. However, as Woking grows and develops we want to be the mouth piece for the town."

Adam explains his role at the studio: "I moved here as a student at the Academy of Contemporary Music in Guildford and loved Woking so much that I stayed. I work with local businesses to get them involved through both recording adverts and features on shows. I am also part of the team that gets local bands in to the studio to record.

"We have a wide listener base for our topical programmes like Sunday Show Tunes, The Fiery Bird Show and the We Love Woking Show. On Tuesdays, we stream live bands. Woking has lots of creative talent and it's great to see rising stars flow through the station."

Finally, Justin adds: "Radio Woking is unique because we only feature subjects that are relevant to Woking residents and we invite people on the show that have something to offer locals."

So next time you turn on your DAB radio, tune into Radio Woking and discover for yourself.

Justin Coll, Radio Woking.

Radio Woking broadcasts at regular intervals throughout the week, with the Music Box playing out-of-hours. The station is keen to hear from members of the community and local businesses who wish to feature on the show. Find out more or listen online by visiting www.radiowoking.co.uk

The Akehurst Brothers at War

One hundred years ago, Surrey was playing its part in the first global war between modern, industrial nations. How did Surrey answer the call? Here, 'Surrey in the Great War' apprentice, Alex White, (pictured below) reveals the story of his Woking ancestors, the Akehursts.

The story of the Akehurst family in Woking follows a pattern which may be familiar to many. They moved into the area in the late 1800s, looking for work in the growing town. A local family, the Turners, later married into the Akehurst family. The Turners had moved from Chobham to Horsell to Woking, whereas the Akehursts had moved from the Sussex/Surrey border to Maybury.

Christopher and Mary Akehurst, initially lived at the Princess of Wales Inn (now The Princess), where Christopher was landlord during the 1890s. In 1894, their second son Christopher died aged four. This wasn't the last tragic death that the family would experience.

Christopher and Mary Akehurst had three sons who all served in WWI: Donald (Sapper, Royal Engineers), Charles (Private, 2/4th Queen's (Royal West Surrey) Regiment) and Thomas (Private, 3rd Battalion Suffolk Regiment).

With the Akehurst family's WWI service records seemingly amongst the millions to be destroyed by bombing during WW2, their stories have been reconstructed from family anecdote, documentation (online and at Surrey History Centre) and local newspapers.

Donald Akehurst

On 1 August 1914, Donald Akehurst (27) married Edith Turner (27) at St John's Church, Woking. Donald and Edith were living on College Lane, St John's, with Edith's mother and brother. Their first daughter, Kathleen, was born in January 1915.

Donald arrived in Egypt during September 1915 and was transferred to army reserves in May 1919, having served in Mesopotamia. Donald and Edith later had two more children: my maternal grandfather Charles "Colin" Akehurst (born July 1920) and Edith Mary (1921).

THE LAST POST

Join the Last Post ceremony which takes place at 3pm on the first Sunday of every month at the RAF Memorial in Brookwood Military Cemetery. Everyone is welcome and attendees can request an individual to be named in the Individual Remembrance section of the event.

Unfortunately Donald's children would never know him, as he died, aged 39, in 1925. According to family anecdote, he had contracted tuberculosis, so had sometimes lived in isolation in the family's garden shed at 10 Church Street, Woking.

Thomas Akehurst

Thomas Akehurst attested aged 19 on 12 June 1917. The recruitment registers are a snapshot of that moment, recording that he was 5' 7", weighed 119lbs and was, like his father and eldest brother, a carpenter. He served in Egypt. After the war, Thomas married and had a son, who would later serve in WW2.

Charles Akehurst

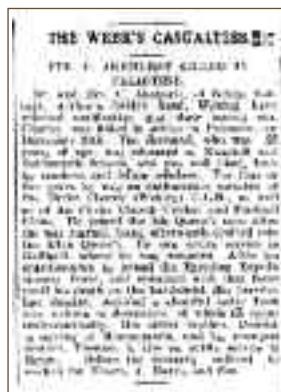

Charles joined the Queens' (Royal West Surrey) Regiment shortly after war broke out. He was involved in heavy fighting, being wounded at Gallipoli, before fighting through Palestine until the Egypt Expeditionary Force liberated Jerusalem in December 1917.

Christopher and Mary (by then living in Arthurs Bridge Road) had just received an upbeat letter from Charles about Jerusalem when they received the telegram that Charles had been killed defending eastern Jerusalem against Ottoman forces. Many Surrey and Woking men were killed on that day, 27 December 1917.

Charles Akehurst (above) (Woking News & Mail, 1 February 1918) and his great-great-nephew, Alex White (right) (Woking News & Mail and Alex White).

Their efforts were not in vain as the Ottoman counter-attacks were ultimately unsuccessful. Charles' obituary paints a picture of his life in Woking as a schoolboy and member of the community, working for J. Harris and Son (father of Hugh Harris of Woking Menswear, now Ashworth & Bird) as a plumber before enlisting.

Charles is one of the first names on the Woking Town War Memorial. A year after his death, on January 25 1918, his family commemorated him with a touching 'In Memoriam' notice in the 'Woking News & Mail'.

Regrettably, there seem to be no records of the Akehurst women during the war, so their story will have to remain untold, for now.

Get involved

There are many ways to become involved in 'Surrey in the Great War: A County Remembers'. Delve into contemporary newspapers, letters, photos and archive sources, trawl through cupboards and attics for letters and diaries, and seek out local memorials to those who fell to discover the people behind the engraved names.

Anyone can participate: schools and colleges, community groups and local societies, experienced researchers and novices with a thirst to discover - all are welcome.

Out and about

A varied walk that takes you off the beaten track, through woodland and agricultural land and back out to civilisation, where you can immerse yourself in the tranquillity of Goldsworth Park Lake.

Key facts

Start/finish: Goldsworth Park Recreation Ground Car Park, Wishbone Way, GU21 3RT

Distance: 4 miles approx

Time: 2.5 to 3 hours

Type of walk: A mainly flat walk, with areas that might be overgrown and uneven, and a number of stiles to cross. Grazing animals and ground-nesting birds may be along the route so proceed with caution in these sections. Please respect people's privacy and follow the Countryside Code.

The route

1. With the car park behind you, the football pitches to your right, take the footpath parallel with Wishbone Way keeping the houses on your left. Follow the signs to Littlewick Common across a small roundabout then right down an alleyway leading towards the main road.

gate on the right. Continue through the trees towards the field. Public footpath arrows will indicate you are on the right path. Make your way across the field keeping the trees on your right.

3. Follow the track past a brook to Carhouse Lane. Turn right cross the road carefully. Immediately next to Grayland Farm House, is a kissing gate. Enter here and follow the track. Some care must be taken as the path is quite overgrown.

4. At the end of the track, bear left and cross a wooden bridge into a small copse. Walk straight ahead and through the kissing gate. Head towards the farm buildings and out via another kissing gate. Pay heed to inquisitive, grazing horses that may cross your path!

5. Continue on the wide gravel track past Deep Pool Farm House, then take a sharp right at the sign post to continue down the gravel track. At the second 'S' bend, take the footpath on your right and continue along a wide tree-lined mud track. Continue ahead through the double wooden gates which lead onto Horsell Common, home to species of birds such as the Dartford Warbler and the Nightjar and reptiles such as adders and lizards. Be aware cattle may be grazing!

6. Take the path ahead. Upon reaching a second double wooden gates that leads to Littlewick Road, bear right and continue along the path parallel with the road. Pass a number of small gates before leaving the Common through a third set of double wooden gates leading to Carhouse Lane.

7. Cross the road carefully, bearing left to pick up a small path in between the road and allotments. Continue ahead until reaching Littlewick Road. Cross carefully and turn right, taking the footpath left (opposite Squires Garden Centre, reopening in spring 2018) into Goldsworth Park past the hockey pitches.

If you have a favourite walk you would like to share, please email debbie.hickman@woking.gov.uk

8. Upon reaching a T-junction, turn left and continue ahead past the row of houses. At reaching the lake, bear left to go clockwise around the lake. You can exit halfway round to visit the centre of Goldsworth Park. Here you can stop for a coffee break at one of the many cafes including Costa Coffee, St Andrew's Church Coffee Shop and Woking Hospice's new public café.

9. Retrace your steps and continue clockwise around the lake until you reach Goldsworth

Woking Hospice

The brand new Woking & Sam Beare Hospice building opened its doors to patients in Spring 2017. It is a state-of-the-art facility providing palliative care and respite for people with life-limiting illnesses and their families, in Woking and the surrounding area. Turner in Surrey

Saturday 18 November 2017 to Thursday 4 January 2018

This much-anticipated exhibition will give visitors the opportunity to see works by Turner that were created as he explored the Surrey landscape. Turner was known for fishing and boating as he travelled through the Woking, Guildford and Godalming area. Whilst travelling in Surrey he produced some of the most important paintings of his career which will be on show in this new and unique exhibition.

Keep an eye out for the forthcoming blockbuster 'Picasso: Paper and Clay' opening 17 March 2018 to 24 June 2018!

Picturing People

Saturday 20 January to Sunday 1 April 2018

The Lightbox will host an exhibition showcasing works from The Ingram Collection that represent the human figure. From wives and husbands, to mythological characters, celebrities, soldiers and footballers, the exhibition will explore over 100 years' worth of artists' work depicting people and will feature portraits and self-portraits in a variety of mediums from sculpture to oil paintings.

Why don't you... celebrate women in sport

Women of all ages and sporting abilities are being encouraged to ditch their inhibitions and break down the barriers that stop them from exercising, as part of a national campaign.

This Girl Can is specifically aimed at encouraging women of all ages to get active through a programme of sporting activities designed especially for women, as well as opportunities to share and celebrate their experiences with others and give each other encouragement to continue.

The This Girl Can movement has had national success at closing the gender gap that exists within participatory sports. Historically, millions more men have been recorded as actively getting involved in sport than women, with women citing a number of common barriers to participation such as image, time constraints and other priorities.

Nic Freeman, Striker, This Mum Can Football, said:

"It all started with a few of us mums getting together and wanting to keep fit. I'd always loved playing football but there weren't really any recreational clubs for women and we needed something that could fit around our busy lives.

Surrey FA started running footy sessions for mums in the field next to our children's school. We joined in and, before long, we were hooked.

"We moved to a new location in West Byfleet so mums from other schools could join us. Now there are around 15 of us who play every week. It's a brilliant way to keep fit and meet new people, we've all become firm friends. And we're getting good too. We've a few tournaments under our belts and we're about to get our own kit with our very own branding! I'm so glad I gave it a go as it's turned into a real passion that's more than just a sport, it's loads of fun too."
